Deposition of BARBARA S. JOHNSON, held at the offices of Vinson & Elkins, 666 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York, before Laurie A.
Collins, a Registered Professional Reporter and Notary Public of the State of New York.

Johnson

A. Yes.

Q. Were you aware of that amendment made in July '04 before today?

MR. LEMIEUX: Objection.

A. Am I aware of that amendment? I -- I didn't know what form it was in. I was aware of this change in language. So I just don't know exactly -- I didn't know it was an amendment -- I didn't specifically know where it -- in what form it was in, is the best way.

Q. Are you saying you knew in July of 2004 that the language was being changed, or when did you know?

A. I'm not specifically sure when I knew, but I'm aware of it. Sorry.

Q. Whose idea was it to change the language?

A. I believe it was the attorney's.

Q. Who was --

A. Again, I'm actually guessing.

Q. But it wasn't your idea?

A. No, no.

Q. So you understand from this paragraph common to pages 5 and 6 that applicant has

1 Johnson

2 replaced the term "loan" in the claims with the 3 more generic term "obligation." So you understand
4 that "obligation" is a generic term that
5 encompasses loan as a species?

6 A. Yes.

7 Q. Is that your understanding?

8 A. Yes.

9 Q. It goes on to say, Since many 10 obligations for payment that may use a system at 11 present are not necessarily loans.

12 Then it goes on to say, For example, if 13 a merchant assigns its receivables to a third
14 party, these could be collected by the third party
15 using the system of the invention. As such the 16 term "lender" has been replaced by third party."

17 Do you see that?

18 A. Yes.

19 Q. So is it your understanding that "third 20 party" is a generic term that encompasses 21 "lender"?

22 A. Yes.

23 Q. Do you have any basis for -- do you
24 know -- do you have any knowledge as to why these 25 claims were changed in 2004?

Johnson

A. If I can go back a little bit. I think I used the word "loan" very often in the early days of the concept, and I used that word I think loosely, meaning obligation, leaning loan, just -- I used it as a nontechnical term.

And I think over time there -- the advice from our legal people was that it needed more of a -- more of a description, more of a definition.

Q. So this arose in 2004?

MR. LEMIEUX: Objection.

A. But I'm not positive on the date but...

Q. Your original application was filed in 1997. This is seven years later.

A. So I think as the -- I don't specifically know why this time was chosen to change it or when the first concept of coming to change the words or alter them was, but I was on some level aware of a discussion about "loan" and "obligation."

Q. At what time were you aware of that discussion?

A. I really don't know. I assume prior to this, but I don't know.

Johnson

Q. Who was that discussion with?

A. It was with my husband coming from the legal -- from the attorneys.

Q. And who were the attorneys in 2004?

A. I don't -- I don't know.

Q. Did you know any of them?

A. No, not permanently. At this point the company was handling...

Q. So apart from Tosti that you mentioned -- I think -- was it Tosti?

A. Yeah.

Q. Did you ever meet any other attorneys or talk to any other attorneys?

A. No.

Q. In fact, you didn't talk to Tosti either; you said you just spoke to Paula Campbell?

A. Yeah.

Q. You didn't meet or talk to any of the attorneys handling the application --

A. No.

Q. -- after you spoke to Paula Campbell?

A. No, personally, no.

Q. This document, if you turn to page 6, it's signed by David Klein. Did you ever know

EXAMINATION CONTINUED BY

MR. SCHUURMAN:

Q. Mrs. Johnson, in your '281 patent, there are no examples other than examples of loans and lenders; is that correct?

MR. LEMIEUX: Objection.

A. I'm not totally aware of all that's included in here.

Q. Are you aware of any reference in your patent to anything like an obligation or like an obligation to a third party?

MR. LEMIEUX: Objection.

A. I'm not totally aware of what's written throughout this whole document.

Q. So do you know --

MR. LEMIEUX: Other than claim language, you're asking her?

Q. You don't know?

1 Johnson

2 MR. LEMIEUX: Objection.

3 Q. Is that what you're saying?

4 A. I'm saying -- yes, I'm saying I don't
5 know where in the document.

6 Q. Coming back to Column 1, we ended with 7 this just before the break, and you -- did you
8 think about it at lunchtime?

9 A. While I'm not totally comfortable using
10 the language in the document, since it is prepared
11 by an attorney and I'm not that familiar with all
12 the language, I think the simple question you're 13 asking me out of all of that, if I'm correct, is 14 that could the processor be separate entities, 15 could they be the same or separate entities. Is 16 that what you're asking me?

17 Q. No, my question is in Column 1 your
18 patent says the merchant processor and the lender
19 can be the same.

20 A. So I guess what I'm saying is I -- that 21 is part of the patent claim.

22 Q. Okay. So my follow-up question was can 23 the merchant processor and the third party be the 24 same.

25 A. I think that's all part of what's in

Johnson

the patent, yes.

Q. I'm sorry?

A. I think, yes, that's all part of what's in the patent.

Q. What is your basis for saying that's what's in the patent?

A. I think -- it's language from the patent that you're reading to me, so yes.

Q. No, I'm not reading language from the patent. Can you look at Column 1?

MR. LEMIEUX: Yes, you were.

Q. Can you look at Column 1 of your '281 patent?

A. Yes.

Q. I'm referring you to Column 1, lines 35 through 42.

MR. LEMIEUX: But we're not reading language from the patent, which was the premise of your question.

Q. Can you read that to yourself.

(Pause.)

Q. Okay. You've read that.

A. Uh-huh.

Q. The patent says the merchant processor

1 Johnson

2 may be the same entity as the lender. Do you see
3 that?

4 A. Yes.

5 Q. So my question is can the merchant
6 processor be the same entity as the third party as 7 well.

8 A. Say it one more time for me.

9 Q. Can you substitute "third party" for 10 "lender" in that passage?

11 MR. LEMIEUX: Objection.

12 A. I don't know what the ramifications of 13 substituting that word would be from a legal 14 standpoint.

15 Q. Well, you're the inventor. You tell
16 me, and I'm asking you. What does your patent 17 mean?

18 A. I am, but I didn't write this. This is 19 written by a professional attorney. So I can -- I 20 can't defend each word and fully understand the 21 ramifications of substituting words in a
22 contract -- in a patent, what that would do.

23 Q. Did the attorney make the decision that 24 the merchant processor and the lender could be the 25 same entity or did you make that decision?
